
I don’t just plan events and design environments. I create experiences that have never existed before. I don’t think out of the box, I don’t see a box. I see opportunity and possibility. My tools are potential and imagination. I build what wasn’t there in order to create joy and connection, energy and focus, creativity and community.

In 2015 I founded Family Friendly Home, LLC, to support families looking to create educational experiences in their home. I have transformed "under the stair nooks" to owl's nests, dining rooms to homeschool classrooms, and kitchen's to labratories.

In 2019 I hosted a launch party for my 2nd book, First Foods to Family Meals. Participants experienced a live in-person baking class and went home with a copy of the book.
